HOSPITAL SHIP FROM NORWAY.

With all the recent news from the Western Front....

you may have forgotten that there is still an expeditionary force in Norway. One of the first hospital ships to return from Northern Waters arrives at a British Port.

For four days she was repeatedly bombed and machine gunned by Nazi planes., The Red Cross always attracts German attacks.

No one must minimise the need for our holding on to the Narvik area. For with it we control an important source of Germany's Iron Ore supply. These fellows have been doing an important job, and doing it magnificently. So here's ~~hope~~ to a speedy recovery.
