

60/54

ROYAL EXILES.

Driven from one country to another and now just arrived in London are King Zeg of Albania with Queen Geraldine and their baby son.

Three days before the Queen fled from Albania, Prince Alexander was born. Their arrival in London was practically unnoticed, but the family now find refuge in the centre of the vast Empire, which now confronts the defilers of civilisation.

.....