LOSING THEIR WOOL.

Ten's of thousand of sheep are heading for the big round-up, on farms in the North of England. Cut throat competition just doesn't exists among these farmers....

when it comes to getting the shears to work on these mountain mutton.

Britain wants her war materials, and these are some of the men who will see that she gets her wool.

Its every man for his neighbour as they get to work with their keen blades. From dawn till dusk they're at it... seven days a week ,,, even women and children.

What have you got to worry about these blokes are always losing their wool when they get fleeced.
