PRINCE BERNARD WITH DUTCH AIRMEN,

The R.A.F. form a guard of honour when Prince Bernard of the Netherlands visits the Royal Netherlands Air Force at its base somewhere in Britain.

Besides fighter pilots and crews, he meets also many of the men in the Dutch Naval Air Service who are actively engaged with The British Coastal Command. Among these is Pilot Sergeant Daniels when he decorates for bravery. Attacked by nine Messerschmitts, Pilot Daniels brought down one with the single gun of a training plane.

"Dutch courage" means something quite different now.
