WITH THE R.A.F. BACK FROM BERLIN.

Headlines in pictures at last. We make no apology for the adjective, but we take terrific pleasure in presenting these first intimate and unrehearsed pictures of real history in the making. How I've been longing to say this...The R.A.F. are back from bombing Berlin.

While Hitler's trained murderers bomb British homes and machine gun women and children in the Streets, these grand men of the R.A.F. strike blow after blow at the Military and Industrial objectives of Nazi Germany....and wherever the shadow of the Swastika faces.

And now I implore you to check your elation so that you may hear every word of real life drama. The men who bombed Berlin reporting to Intelligence.

SOUND,

And we'll go on bombing those targets all the time with unremitting and unrelenting vigour. That is the sort of language and action the German understands.

Let's all join in wishing the Royal Air Force continued success...
"Never have so many depended upon so few". Good luck again!
