BRIGHT MOMENTS IN THE BLITZKRIEG.

With the Blitzkrieg temperature at about 100 degrees outside, our cameramen entered a large underground shelter, to record the reactions of the people sheltering there from bombs and shrapnel.

"Are they scared?" is the question. And here's the answer!

Their singing may not be quite in the McCormack style, but it's a pity Goering can't hear them. He'd realise that even he isn't big enough to scare them.
