

MR. CHURCHILL IN GLASGOW.

When Britain's "Strong Man" - the Prime Minister - visits the North, his choice of hat is eloquent indication of a busy time ahead. Wherever he goes, he's always accorded a rousing reception. A tour of Glasgow's Civil Defences brings him into personal touch with all branches of National Services. With him on his tour of inspection is Mrs. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt's special envoy, Mr. Harry Hopkins, seen here on the left of the Prime Minister.

Mr. Churchill looks fine - - but where's the cigar?
