

MR. CHURCHILL IN THE SOUTH.

The Prime Minister in a hasting tour of Portsmouth Dockyard pays a visit to Nelson's Flagship VICTORY. " England expects that every man these days will carry hid gas mask". That's an example set by Mr.Churchill as, in company with President Roosevelt's special envoy, Mr. Harry Hopkins, he acknowledges the cheers of the Dockyard workmen.

Portsmouth can not only take it; but can dish it out as well.

"The Skipper" is in his element. A friendly word with George Smith a 16-year-old yard boy is quite a red letter day for the Smith Family. We're all in this thing together, hand-in-hand.
