

THE QUEENS MESSENGERS.

Vehicles for a new system of food convoys for bombed areas are seen by Her Majesty and Lord Woolton at Buckingham Palace. The Queen herself has given a convoy of eight vehicles, while 136 lorries, canteens and water carriers have been given to the Ministry of Food by people of the United States through the British War Relief Society of America. Known as the "Queens Messengers" the fleet will be able to travel quickly by day and night, and at short notice, to any town in which feeding arrangements have suddenly become dislocated. The Food Flying Squad is ready to go into action.
