

U.S. MARINES IN BATTLE ROYAL.

Yes Sir, it's a battle royal. They're Marine recruits, and your old time fighting leathernecks believe there's nothing like breaking the youngsters in right. Who said glove throwing is difficult - why they do it with their eyes ~~shut~~ shut.

Boy, what a mix up - the haymakers are landing thick and fast. "Let me tell you" the linament bottle will be in big demand when this mass wallop is over.

The U.S. Marine never pull their punches, but they change partners without knowing it - They all 'aeck' one another and share out the black eyes afterwards.