WAAF'S AND BARRAGE BALLOONS.

WaaFs are now being trained in the handling of the balloon barrage.

To help releade more men for other operational duties in the R.A.F.

a Balloon section of the W.A.A.F is enlisting those sturdy types whom we habitually looked upon as cut out solely for Gym mistresses, Police women or mothers-in-law. These girls can fill a gasbag with the best of 'em, and when it comes to palling a few wires to get on in their job, Sergeant Jerry is there to remind them that a woman's work is never done.

Well, now the girls are going to send the balloon up. The way they're handling all that tackle makes me think it won't be long now. Controlling the ascent is the bird in the gilded cage - and there she goes, as pretty a launching as you'd see anywhere.

What's that saying about The Hand that rocks the Cable!?
