JACK'S THE BOY.....

For sinking Nazis, painting ships or getting fun out of life, Jack Tar's the bloke for them all. The ship wants a new winter coat. So Jack gets to work with a will, and a few tons of paint. Before you can say what you think of Hitler, the vessel's as well painted as the girl next door.

Jack's the boy for play too. As witness a fancy dress parade staged on deck by way of light relief from more serious matters. Some display plenty of ingenuity in devising costumes to catch the judges eye, but at least one decides that lack of costume might commend itself to the 'old man'. She, is the Servive Engineer. He makes a good girl - good enough to be bad enough - Another"lady"says 'thank you' for his prize, very prettily..... A sweetheart in every port may be all right, but one aboard the ship is worth two-in-a-bush, if you see what I mean!
