(9). TITLE.:- FLYWEIGHT FIGHT.

Picture.:- In the battle between Jackie Brown, who has his back towards you, and Vincenzo --

--Savo, the Italian champion, both fought well and took a great deal of punishment. While the Englishman has the advantage of a - - - longer reach, the Italian has speed and connects frequently, but is driven against the ropes as the bell goes.

In the later rounds, the men are both still fresh. They open and clinch. Brown breaks away from Savo, swings his left, but misses.

Brown seeks for opening - - - ouch ! - - - and staggers the Italian, who recovers and fights back strongly. He gets a lot of hard hitting, but often breaks through Brown's guard with his quick and frequently puzzling tactics.

The Englishman now proves to be the superior boxer, and though --

--fairly evenly matched, the victory is given to Brown, who remains the European flyweight champion.

Well the fight's over now, so they embrace after pummeling each other --

--for fifteen rounds - - and the Italian wants a return contest !

SO FOR THE PRESENT, WE LEAVE YOU.
