TITLE.:-ROVER SCOUT MOOT.

Picture.: They were proud to have their Chief with them, were these "big brothers" of the Scouts.

Lord Baden Powell is seen in the centre of this great assembly.

The inclement weather does not deter these fine young fellows from staging a swimming race in the chilly waters of the camp pool.

Watch this fellow in the centre - he looks like a winner - but as they reach the near shore we see that he is beaten by a short head!

Then, the Chief Scout tells his listeners that they have met "to make Rovering far-reaching in its service for others".

And even he is somewhat surprised at the enthusiastic cheers which greet his remarks.

TITLE.SERPENTINE PARADE.

Picture.: A serpent can sometimes be attractive - as is here demonstrated by American girls.

One must admit they make a very striking picture as they are towed in file on the Pond.

This feature is presented each year by the girls of Gulick Camps who delight in the effect produced.

I always thought girls hated snakes - yet here is one of their own making.

I've heard they like rings better - they make a big one here.

And what girl doesn't like making a splash ? Here is a very effective finale to quite a striking display.
