

125281

(8).

TITLE.:- ALPINE GLIDING.

Picture.:- They're rather keen on learning gliding in the Tyrol.

A big stretch ! That's elastic those ten are pulling--
--against these fellows.

The stretching goes on and on; farther and farther yet,--
--until the word "go".

When away shoots the glider, lifting gracefully from the hill-side to sail away over the ravine. This wants a bit of pluck, for you must remember, these gliders have no engine. A cross current of air would bring trouble.

This is the first successful--
--sail planing effort in this part of the world.