

135581-C
135581-C

(8). TITLE.:-"COMING, SIR!"

Picture.:- Once a year, if no more, the waiters of Paris put their best foot forward. For it's their annual race through a mile and a half of Paris streets, for the coveted waiters' championship.

At the word "go", they don't wait! But "let it rip"--
--just as though they expected a big tip --

--at the end of it! Come on boys! Pretend you mean it!
You never know who might be watching you!

Perhaps some of them get better jobs from the show they put up in this race.

You-never-can-tell! Some of them look as serious as if the governor was looking on!

Well, if they're not deaf, they're smart waiters!

May it be your luck to be served by Charlot when in Paris.

(9). TITLE.:- RAILWAY DISASTER.

Picture.:- Some motorists are very unobservant, so they are shown what might be --

--one result of not keeping their eyes well open!

The train's coming round that curve! The motorist doesn't realize it till it's too late! With terrible results! A bad smash -- at least, it would have been if it had been real. But it just goes to show what might happen!

Of course the youngsters think it's a fine joke.
They don't own cars -- yet!