TITLE.:- GOING UP :

Picture.:- They're all "going up", in more senses than one ! For this is the "passing out" inspection of the cadets of the Royal Air Force, at Cranwell. They are smart chaps, every one! If they can inspire similar smartness --

--in their subordinates of the future, the army - I'm sorry -the Air Force, of to-morrow's all right. It's not surprising that the Chief of the Air Staff, Air Chief Marshal Sir John Salmond, expressed himself pleased with their general appearance and smartness. It --

--is a striking fact that a big proportion of casualties at the College are not due to flying at all; but to motor cycle --

--accidents. It rather seems as though the cadets are better able to look after themselves in the air than on the road.

After the review, Sir John inspects men and machines, pausing for a word with each cadet --

--due to pass out of the College. They are going to find --

"life" quite a different matter, from now on. We all --

--wish them successful careers, and hope they'll all live to draw the old age pension.

The Sword of Honour, for the best all round man is presented by the Air Chief to Flight Cadet Logan. Good luck to him !
