

2-PPPP251

(1). TITLE.:- LIBERTY OF ENGLAND.

Picture.:- Just by this spot William of Orange landed - away back in 1688 - after the -- --abdication of his brother, James. .... The event is celebrated each year in this picturesque little fishing town, with simple ceremony, quite at contrast --

--with the events which preceded and followed the landing of the future King William the Third of England. .... The celebration takes place, not on the anniversary of the arrival of the Prince of Orange (which, by the way, was on the 5th of November ---

--a day which proved significant to another famous figure of history), but instead, on the anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne. .... After having been carried ashore by a Brixham fisherman, the Prince issued his famous declaration to the effect that he would maintain the Liberties of England, etcetera.