SPRING IS IN THE AIR - - Hundreds of lambs appear in the meadows brightening the countryside with their joyous gambolling.

-Iver.Bucks-

Picture.:- Either Spring has come, or the poor sheep are deceived. Anyway it's too late to argue-- --about that now, because little woolly lambs are arriving all over-- --the place. Their innocence is touching ! They have never heard of mint sauce, and don't know what the word 'mutton' means !

.Betting laws, and sweepstake embargo's mean nothing to them. They gambol just as they feel inclined !

It's a pity ! They're bound to get done brown in the long run.

Who said sheep had no sense? They know the shepherd has got food, and they follow him like - well,- sheep. Those small lambs, with the rickety knees are only a week old, and are still-- --rather afraid of mislaying mother. Here are - --two, who have mislaid her. But the new one they have found--

--knows her job. Now, what do you know about that ?
