

THE ROYAL SCOTS - - Colonel-of-the- Regiment, Lord Trenhard pays a visit of inspection to the 2nd Battalion of Britain's oldest regiment, at Gatterick.

-Yorkshire-

Picture.:-

The Royal Scots are about to be inspected by their Colonel,--

--Lord Trenhard. The Prince of Wales is the---Regiment's Colonel-in-Chief, and it was hoped he--

--might be present, but owing to pressure of--

--almost continuous engagements, the tentative arrangements for his attendance had to be cancelled.

BAND 28 feet.

BAND 9 feet.

Lord Trenhard presents the good-conduct medal to Sergeant-Major Jenkins, and the men agree with the award, which proves that he is plus something that other Sergeant-Major's haven't got !

A fine and famous Regiment. Well, they're royal and they're Scots ! What more do you want ?