SIX DAYS GRIND - - Competitassin 144-hours cycling race at Paris Velodrome experience the longest week of their lives !
-France-

Witnessing Six Days of continuous cycling is one Parisian idea--

--of entertainment. Thousands of spectators pack the Velodrome day after day, cheering the-- --pedal pushers. Three time-keepers are constantly on duty; one to record the race, and two to -- --keep him awake. The Course has its own repair shop for tyre--

--and other renewals. This is the Sixth Day and the competitors are pulling themselves together for the finish. The last hour of the--

--144 is slowly ticking itself away. If anyone wants to make a week seem like a month, Here's a way of doing it ! After five sleepless nights, the spectators are waking up--

--for their last effort at cheering and clapping.
The winners are Broccardo and Guimbretiere, who top the list with 472 points. With your permission, I take this opportunity of wishing them the joy of every single point.
