KILL JOYS' DOOM - - Special court aboard the "Golden Eagle" makes short work of DORA and MRS GHUNDY.

-On the high seas-

DORA and GRUNDY versus THE PROPER. (VOICE) Bring in the prisoners !

Silence in court ! - - and the prisoners are duly brought in. Somewhere off Southend Miss Dora and Mrs Grundy are put in-

--the dock for the attempted--

--murder of joy. Green-eyed jealousy--

--says the prosecutor is the motive. Flannel garments and elastic--

--side boots have soured the 'souls' and heels of these women.

The jury thinks its awful - - the apparel, not the turning sour,--

--and a unanimous verdict of guilty is pronounced.

The sea passage is rough to-day, but it's going-- --to be rougher yet. The condemned are-sentenced to-- --'walk the plank', and to keep on walking until there's--

--no more plank, and then it's 'plonk' into the salty sea. DORA goes first. (GROANS & HISSES). And then spoil-sport MRS GRUNDY. (GROANS AND HISSES).

And now boys and girls, let' <sup>her</sup> it go †
