(7). Picture. :- Truth being stranger than fiction, we-- --jump to the Scott Polar Research Institute at Cambridge which-- --Mr. Baldwin, the University's Chancellor, is opening. No--
--character of fiction ever displayed more adventurous courage than Captain--
--Scott, in memory of whom-- --the Institute is named. The statue of-- --youth well symbolises those men-- --who devote their lives to exploration. This (8). Picture. :- ship was not exploring, but found a strange bed--

--all the same. In a terrific storm she missed making harbour at Rhyl, and landed nearby-- --on the beach, high and dry. The ship being-- --the high part, and the crew being the dry part.
