

CLAN CHIEF'S 100TH BIRTHDAY.

MACLEANS HONOUR "THE CHIEF".

-Exclusive Pictures-

Picture.;- Five-hundred of the Clan Maclean arrive at the Island of Mull--

--in the beautiful Mull of Galloway. They are visiting--

--the home of their clan which is still the home--

--of their hereditary chief, Sir Fitzroy Donald Maclean of Duart Castle.

In the rebellion of 1745, the Castle was despoiled and its defenders who failed to escape ruthlessly killed. Sir Donald vowed to--

--restore it. He made his fortune--

--abroad, came back, and fulfilled his self-imposed task. To-day,--

--the Chieftan's 100th Birthday, his clansmen present him with an address and two volumes containing the signatures of four-thousand of them. His--

--sen deputises for Sir Donald. The Chief listens from a--

--sick bed. The King sent a message of birthday congratulations to the Chief for his long--

--and loyal service to the Crown and Clan.
