

WIMBLEDON FINALS.

F.J. PERRY V G. VON GRAMM.

Picture.:-

Fred Perry V Von Gramm, Germany in the final of the Men's-- --Singles at--

--Wimbledon. The excited tension of players and crowd can be felt. A lovely--

--backhand to Von Gramm's centre. Von Gramm returns forehand. Perry gets it back. Von Gramm returns.

Perry backhands. Von Gramm returns short. Perry runs up. Gets it! Von Gramm returns. Perry smashes and wins the point. Perry's--

--attack is too much for Von--

--Gramm. Perry's next service gains--

--him match point, with the score at 6-2, 6-4, 5-4.

Von Gramm drives out, and Perry is world champion singles--

--tennis player for the--

--

--second year in succession. Great stuff this Perry!

220121
MRS F.S. MOODY

V

MISS H. JACOBS.

---

Picture.:-

Amazons of tennis meet. Helen Wills Moody V
Helen Jacobs. I should--

--perhaps have said clash, not meet, because this match up to now has been the most amazing display of vigorous, exhaustive tennis I have ever seen. The score is now--

--six-three, three-six,--

--one set all. This set--

--has gone backwards and forwards. First two-one, and then two-all. Then Miss Jacobs took the lead, and went on--

--to five-two.

Both players are now tiring. They just must.
But Helen of the--

--Moody eye-shade rises--

--a gain to invincibility, and wins the set at seven-five.

Two great Helens, but that eye shade caps everything.