

553

NEWS IN BRIEF.

2-811141
2-411121

Picture.:- It's rare to see French poodles taking part in obedience tests, but here is an exception. "Don't do as I do, but do as I tell you" is the motto of these dog owners. After sitting still for fifteen minutes, these wonderful animals show a training in politeness which is a delight to any well conducted household, although they do ocasionally settle arguments in the good old fashioned way. The Crystal Palace series of tests is for owner trainers only. This dog is 'Fourways Fued', winner in his class, but he's no pet hunter. All he expects to take is the biscuit.

Picture.:- And now, hold your breath, ladies !

No, Robert is not the attraction. The most thrillingiest thing is the Royal Baby. His Most Tiny Royal Highness the Prince, the most absolute master of the Duke and Duchess of Kent's household. A bouquet of flowers arrives for the Duchess just before her son comes back from his airing in the grounds of Buckingham Palace. UNIVERSAL'S exclusive first screen pictures of the Royal Baby.
