Our 15-years old Cecilia Colledge did not win the Olympic Championship from the holder, but here she is making her game effort which fell

only six points

below that of the ten times champion, Sonja Henie. This is Sonja's swan-song. It is as graceful as a swan, anyway. After the victory she announced her retiral from the competitive games. (EFFECTS)

Receiving the awards for victory. Sonja takes the last of her Olympic career. Twilight was falling as this took place, but the most spectacular part of a marvellous program came after dark. Thousands of torches lit the runs, and the crowning sight was a party of ski-ers, flying down bearing the Olympic flag, the flag/interwoven circles.
