

The first woman Mayor of Dartmouth inspected the parade on an occasion which was to commence even closer relations between the Borough of Dartmouth and its famous Royal Naval College. It was the presentation of the Freedom of Entry --- conferring upon the College, the ~~right~~ right to march through the Borough with bayonets fixed and bands playing. Dartmouth has been the training-ground of Royal Naval officers, for over ninety years.

NASHUA.

A field of nine at Florida's Hialeah Park posed the first big question of 1956. What was the form of Nashua --- champion American racehorse of 1955? Near the finish, Nashua took the lead. Up on the outside came a horse called Social Outcast, to challenge the favourite. But Nashua won in a photo-finish; and put his total winnings up to more than a million dollars.

SWIMMING.

From Holland --- this is a believe-it-or-not picture of a ladies' swimming club. Every member is a housewife. They call themselves the Icebergs, and they're all strong silent women. Any member with false teeth, has to leave them at home in case they chetter.

EISENHOWER GOLF.

It's good to see President Eisenhower tackling the first game of golf since his heart-attack.....with an electric buggy to help him take it easy on the fairway. But his doctor has made him promise to play golf with a smile --- even when he misses a putt by inches.

AIR CRASH.

French and Egyptian aviation ~~affixixix~~ experts made an examination of this French airliner, which crashed in the desert a few minutes before it was due to land at Cairo Airport. It was travelling from Saigon to Paris. Fifty-two of the sixty-four on board were killed.
